

Thankful for the safe travels that I had this week

God has blessed me this week with a new bed set my parents were able to get me

The parade was great last night. I was helping guide the sea turtle balloon along the route. I was recognized by people (especially my students) due to my blue Santa hat and my yellow Yoshi (dinosaur from Mario games) & his two Memorial High School flags. Kids recognized him too.

Supportive Church Family.

A quiet morning outside in the cool and peace.

